About

I moved from Taiwan to Canada six years ago pursuing studies in design and sculpture, and I'm interested in user-centric design with playful shapes. Currently I'm finishing up the Industrial Design program at OCAD University with goals of becoming an industrial designer. I am talented in a variety of design methods and practices, and I routinely create, discover, and learn about all manners of industrial design. I'm passionate about strategies, and forms of communication engagement. My areas of expertise are in user experience research/ empathetic design thinking, prototyping, and 3D modelling.
